Description

Sintox is a food supplement that uses propolis. For this product we use propolis of the highest quality in dry extract form so that we can ensure that it provides roughly 12% of galangin (a bioflavonoid). Propolis is a resinous mixture that bees made from resinous compounds of plants. Propolis is made up of resins, balsams, essential oils and other organic matter, in particular flavonoids such as quercetin and galangin. In addition Sintox syrup contains an excellent mix of vegetable extracts including balsamo, pine, ribwort plantain, sundew, common mallow and eucalyptus. Sintox is further enriched with vitamin C, copper, zinc and manganese, all of which contribute to the normal functioning of the immune system.
