Description

Argan is a tree that grows mainly in the southwest of Morocco. There, it is an essential for the local population, due to its value in the economic sector, since it is used for different purposes. From its seeds, an oil known as "desert gold" is extracted, due to its multiple culinary and therapeutic qualities.

Vitaroms Argan vegetable oil is obtained by first cold pressing the ripe seeds of Argania spinosa. This ensures that all its components remain intact, thus providing great benefits to the organism. It contains about a third of polyunsaturated fatty acids (Omega 6), also monounsaturated and saturated fatty acids, as well as Vitamin E and rich in phytosterols, which give it restorative and toning properties on the skin, restoring vitality and a better appearance. This oil is the perfect ally for aged skin or punished by the passage of time or inclement weather, as well as to help regenerate cracked tissues or scars.
