Description

The coconut palm is a slender palm tree, typical of tropical regions, which can reach 12 to 30 meters in height. Its fruit, the coconut, is produced throughout the year. Historically, the coconut has been used as a medicinal fruit and it is in recent years that it is being recognized worldwide and is being used both in culinary recipes and for its cosmetic and therapeutic properties.

Vitaroms Coconut vegetable oil is obtained by first cold pressing of the Cocos nucifera fruit. This ensures that all its components remain intact, thus providing great benefits to the body. More than 90% of the fatty acids are saturated, so the percentage of unsaturated fatty acids is less than 10%. It is a highly nourishing, emollient and regenerating oil.
