Cosmetic Table

Components	Action	Effect
Thermal water	Special soothing care for hypersensitive skin, for various irritations.	Provides relief to sensitive and irritated skin.
Cannabidiol	It acts as a topical soothing on sensitive skin. Helps control sebum production. Protective action against environmental factors.	Calms and relaxes sensitive skin, helping to reduce the symptoms of dry skin
Aloe Barbadensis leaf extract	It is the greatest natural regenerator and the fastest that exists. Any skin problem can be treated with Aloe Vera and speed up its resolution, as it penetrates up to eight times deeper into the skin than any other regenerating product.	It is attributed an extraordinary regenerative power of damaged tissues, since it stimulates the immune system while collaborating in the production of fibroblastic cells, essential in healing processes.

Shea butter	Keeps the skin in good condition. Increases or decreases the viscosity of cosmetics.	It is used in many cosmetics for its soothing and softening properties for the epidermis. It can also protect the skin and scalp from external damage.
Vitamin E	It has tissue regenerating properties, stimulates skin cell metabolism and protects its normal fat content. It is a powerful inhibitor of free radicals. The same reducing action of this vitamin is an excellent prophylactic against the destruction of cells by solar energy.	Antioxidant, fights free radicals.
