Description

Erythritol is a natural sweetener, that is, it is extracted from a natural source. It is a low calorie sweetener and recommended for diabetics. It also has an ecological certificate, complying with the characteristics of the most demanding consumers. Erythritol does not provide energy to the body because it is not metabolized, therefore, our intestinal tract cannot absorb it and it is eliminated. Fresh flavour, and with a slightly lower sweetening power than white sugar, it has become one of healthy alternatives to our sweet dishes and recipes. In addition, due to its properties it can be used in the preparation of baking recipes.
